German children's and young adult books are very much in demand among international licensees and a real export hit for German publishers, being the top selling foreign rights category.

Since 2006, the Frankfurter Buchmesse has been inviting German publishers to exhibit a selection of their books abroad in order to meet this great demand.

This autumn, 18 renowned publishers and imprints will be part of the Children's Books on Tour collection. A total of 64 compelling titles will be displayed and promoted at around 13 foreign book fairs and at our foreign offices in China and Russia.

You'll find all the information about the books in this rights list.

10 Little Owls Don't Want to Go to Bed

Katja Alves
Illustrated by Andrea Stegmaier
pp. 32, 22.0 x 28.5 cm, Age 3+
€ 13.00, 978-3-401-71836-1
All rights available

Today Mummy Owl has given her 10 owlets a flying lesson. But in the evening, when they all fly back to the hollow in their tree, suddenly there's one extra. Scatterbrained Mummy Owl has accidentally brought along a little bat, and now she must take it to its real home as quickly as possible.

But it's long past bedtime. So when she's gone, who will put the little owls to bed?

Katja Alves has worked in various professions, including bookselling and broadcasting. Today she works as a freelance writer of children's stories and audio plays. She and her family live in Zurich.

Andrea Stegmaier lives and works in Stuttgart. Her favourite occupation is illustrating picture books and children's books. She finds new inspiration wherever she is.

The Brilliant Mr Chalkwhite Vol. 1

Stefanie Taschinski
Illustrated by Nikolai Renger
pp. 216, 16.0 x 21.0 cm, Age 8+
€ 14.00, 978-3-401-60623-1
All rights available

Matilda and Emil notice there's something weird about their teacher Mr Chalkwhite. During lessons, books fly through the air, and toy sheep Roger winks at them. Roger tells them that Mr Chalkwhite inherited magic powers, but refuses to teach them to him. After Emil's relay baton hits the headteacher, his parents take him out of school. To rescue him, the entire class uses Roger's friendsheep and ex-baaa-tise to make sure that Mr Chalkwhite learns to use his power.

Stefanie Taschinski writes warm and witty, playful and poetic children's books. Her books have won many awards, and have been translated into many languages.

Nikolai Renger studied visual communication. He creates art as a freelance illustrator for various publishing houses and agencies.

The Extraordinary Cases of Florentine Blix Vol. 1: Soft Toys at the Scene of the Crime

Alice Pantermüller
Illustrated by Daniela Kohl
pp. 288, 13.5 x 20.5 cm, Age 10+
€ 13.00, 978-3-401-60578-4
German audio book rights sold

The day Bo joins Florentine's class, Florentine's soft toys all disappear. When Bo's cousin Jesper shows up at night in Florentine's room and asks her to help Bo, Florentine starts investigating. Unfortunately, Jesper only speaks Danish and keeps on disappearing. Florentine needs her best friend Maja who is much better at handling people.

Alice Pantermüller wanted to become a "novel writer" or a teacher early on. Having obtained a degree in teaching, worked as a foreign language assistant in Scotland and become a bookseller, she now lives in the Lüneburg Heath Region.

Daniela Kohl earned her school lunch money selling little drawings. She studied communication design and has worked as a freelance illustrator and graphics designer since 2001.

A power cut throws the world into chaos. Two years later, the inescapable conditions caused by inadequate resources and overcrowded towns force Lena's family to seek refuge in a settlement for dropouts. With her classmate Ben, she finds out that the power cut was only the start of a much bigger plan. Should they stay in the safety of the settlement, or embark on the dangerous task of saving humankind from a power whose existence is not even suspected by anyone else?

Thomas Thiemeyer studied geology and geography before starting a career as an author and illustrator. His books have won numerous awards, sold over half a million copies and been translated into thirteen foreign languages.

Life is like a marble run.

After moving to the city, Mr Badger and Rocket quickly become indispensable, whether there is something to fix at Grandma Käthe's or the guinea pig kids need a babysitter. One day, Mr Badger has the idea of building a marble run right across the house. Anyone who needs help can send a marble off, and the little ones would even have something to play with. Ingenious! Unfortunately, not everyone is enthusiastic ... And then Badger and Rocket get mail for the first time - who could have written to them?

Jörg Isermeyer, born in 1968, travelled through Europe as a street musician. Today he works as an actor, producer, theater pedagogue, musician and writer in Bremen and elsewhere.

Kai Schüttler, born in 1988, studied Design in Münster, majoring in illustration. He works as a freelance illustrator doing children's books and various other jobs as well.

I Am the Hedgehog

Katrin Wiehle
pp. 16, 22.5 x 17.2 cm, Age 3+
€ 10.00, 978-3-407-75670-1
All rights available

Hello, I am the hedgehog. Take a look! This is what I look like!

Using a conversational tone, the shy spiny animal tells us about its secret hiding places and favourite treats, how it raises its offspring and why it hibernates in the cold season. In clear and warm-hearted pictures, the hedgehog can be closely observed and reveals many details that will amaze even adult readers.

Printed with eco inks on recycled paper, this is our 100% nature book.

Katrin Wiehle lives in the USA with her husband, two great kids and two red tomcats, where she works as a freelance illustrator for all kinds of clients. In 2011, she received the Newcomer Award from the German Academy for Children's and Youth Literature, and her picture book debut Professor Pfeffer's Animal Adventure and the 100% Nature book My Little Forest also won awards from the Stiftung Buchkunst.

The Diversity of Nature

Why we need biodiversity and how we can maintain it

Christina Steinlein
Illustrated by Gareth Ryans
pp. 94, 22.5 x 16.8 cm, Age 7+
€ 16.00, 978-3-407-75694-7
All rights available

Why we need to save our biodiversity!

There are millions of animal species on our planet! And even more species of plants and fungi in countless different ecosystems. We owe much of what we use as a matter of course in our everyday lives to this diversity. But large-scale agriculture, overfishing of the oceans or, for example, the mining of raw materials are causing more and more ecosystems to become unstable and more and more species to disappear.

Gareth Ryan is an illustrator from Northern Ireland. He studied fine and applied arts and media design in Belfast. He illustrates children's books and lives with his family in Hamburg.

Christina Steinlein attended the German School of Journalism and studied journalism and biology. She works as an author in Munich.

Whisperworld

Vol. 1: Departure for the Land of the Animal Whisperers

Barbara Rose
 Illustrated by Alina Brost
 pp. 304, 21 x 14.8 cm, Age 9+
 € 14.00, 978-3-551-65636-0
 Rights sold to Denmark, Russia

Coco, Chuck, Amy, Mohit, and Paul have a special calling. They're allowed to go to Whisperworld, where they roam through the jungle alone, sleep in trees, and learn something new about nature and the animals around them every day. They wait impatiently to see who is the first to be chosen to protect an endangered species – as its animal whisperer.

Barbara Rose takes her readers into an enthralling primeval jungle, home to wild animals and fantastical beings, and sends her heroes on exciting adventures. And in the process, she manages to unobtrusively embed the themes of extinction and conservation into these fantastic stories.

Barbara Rose is an author of children's and YA books as well as a journalist. Before she started writing, she moderated radio shows for children and young adults and came up with story ideas for television.

Alina Brost, born in 1996, studied communication design with a major in illustration. She is fascinated by magical worlds and is constantly on the lookout for new adventures in books of all kinds.

"A book full of fantasy on the subject of species protection!"

 pp. 96, 24.5 x 17.3 cm, Age 9+
 € 14.00, 978-3-551-73024-4
 Rights sold to Denmark

The gift of perceiving spirits, poltergeists and demons is not for the faint of heart! And ever since Alan took over the firm of Wilder Ltd. after his father's death, he's been a little nervous about upholding its reputation – the company offers "assistance with all kinds of supernatural phenomena." His very first case leads Alan to the ominous bridge of the eerie Lady Overtoun ...

In Alan C. Wilder, the authors have created an intrepid and witty young ghost hunter whose adventures would intimidate even the most seasoned paranormal investigator.

Patrick Wirbeleit has worked as a freelance illustrator and comic strip artist since 2001.

Ulf K. is a well-known and prolific illustrator in Germany. As well as comic books, he produces unique illustrations for magazines and books that enrich every story. He also gives lots of workshops for kids on the subject of comic book illustration.

All sorts of noises will pop into your head when you look at these pictures. If you like, you can make the noise too: roar like a lion, rattle like a washing machine or coo like a dove! An expressive pleasure across 160 pages.

Benjamin Gottwald not only creates award-winning picture books and illustrates for various magazines, but also makes wooden figures and animations.

Frieda Gets By Without Friends! Or Not?

Picture book for children aged two and above about the value of friendship and togetherness

Christian Dreller
 Illustrated by Igor Lange
 pp. 32, 28.6 x 22.05 cm, Age 3+
 € 13.00, 978-3-551-52126-2
 All rights available

Frieda is a hippo and actually quite a nice one. However, she always wants to be in control. She wants to decide what is played and for how long, who can play and so on. This annoys all her friends, and one day nobody wants to play with Frieda anymore. At first Frieda thinks that's a good thing, but soon she realises that life without friends is only half as nice and that it's fun when everyone has a say.

Christian Dreller studied Slavic Languages. He's been translating and writing children's books since 2005.

Igor Lange was already drawing on tables and walls as a child: his own stories, superheroes and adventures. Today it's books and no longer walls. The dream turned into a job, but he's still a child at heart.

Not Today

Timon Meyer
 Illustrated by Julian Meyer
 pp. 32, 25 × 19 cm, Age 3+
 € 14.00, 978-3-257-01263-7
 All rights available

The newt is in a grumpy mood, and the crocodile forgets to smile. All the animals are blue today, full of sadness and sorrow. Will it get better? Not today, maybe tomorrow! Before there's too much drama with the llama, the next adventure for the panda's animal gang is waiting around the corner. A hilarious and wonderfully illustrated read-aloud book.

Timon Meyer is a freelance author and artist who lives in Queens, New York.

Julian Meyer has worked as a freelance illustrator since 2017. He lives in Hamburg.

"So maybe tomorrow, then?" Timon and Julian Meyer keep asking, hitting the nail on the head. Yes, tomorrow the world might look quite different."

 € 14.00, 978-3-257-01286-6
 Rights sold to Croatia, France, Korea, Russia, Sweden, Ukraine

A heart-warming story about true friendship and the joy of accepting yourself as you are.

The little hedgehog is sad. The other animals are constantly being petted: the dogs, the cats, the hares and the horses. He's the only one that no one strokes. But one day he meets a clever field mouse who shows him that we're all lovable just as we are. And that sometimes it's a wonderful thing to be wild and free.

Andrey Kurkov, born in St. Petersburg in 1961, has lived in Kyiv since childhood and writes in Russian. His novel Death and the Penguin established him as one of Ukraine's most famous contemporary writers. Andrey Kurkov's works have been published in 42 languages. He has been a freelance author since 1996 and lives in Ukraine with his family.

Tania Goryushina, born in Kyiv in 1978, is an artist, illustrator and teacher. She has received multiple awards for her children's books that she develops in collaboration with various publishers or produces in her own micro publishing house Tyanachu. Tania Goryushina is based in Stockholm.

How the Little Star Came to Earth

Thomas Meyer
 Illustrated by Mehrdad Zaeri
 pp. 44, 30 × 23 cm, Age 4+
 € 18.00, 978-3-257-01260-6

With the learning cards of LOGICO, children will enjoy practising their thinking skills and laying the foundations for later problem-solving.

The exercises in this title focus on questions like "same and different" and classification by colour, size or object.

In this way, children develop thinking skills which involve visual perception (sorting by colour, shape and pattern) and logical thinking (categorising, classifying and finding the odd one out in groups of objects).

Let's Start Deutsch! Picture-audio book, Vol. 1

Doris Fischer, Christina Kellner
Illustrated by Marlit Peikert
pp. 80, 29.7 × 21 cm, Age 5+
€ 29.90, Art-no. 3080
Rights sold to the Netherlands

"Let's start Deutsch!" is a book series designed especially for children starting school in a foreign country. The picture book is the "heart" of each volume. Colourful illustrations suitable for the age group help even those children with no knowledge of the new language to learn the vocabulary needed for everyday life. There is plenty of audio material to help children learn to understand first German words and sentences. The picture book comes to life with the Bookii talking pen. It is the perfect tool to train vocabulary, correct pronunciation and support oral fluency.

It is successfully applied in German schools for the German language and in schools in the Netherlands for the Dutch language.

In Dr Chicken's waiting room there is a lot going on. Mr Bear has eaten too much cream cake and his tummy is aching. The anti-rumble drops in the medicine cabinet are sure to help. Ms Giraffe has been driving around in her convertible all day long. Now she has a sore throat. Dr Chicken's diagnosis is clear: converti-bloccal infection. Lots of warmth is the only thing that helps with that. Dr Chicken has the right medicine for each of her patients: even the lovesick hedgehog who definitely needs glasses, because her poor eyesight has caused her to fall for a wooden brush ... A highly amusing picture book story by a talented new illustrator.

Ninette Sarnes, born in Bamberg in 1984, studied Communication Design in Nuremberg and worked for various advertising agencies. In 2011, she created her own fashion label: LUFT UND LIEBE. Who's Next? is her first picture book.

The Animal World Sleep Championship

Ready, steady ... snore!

Five animal heroes are getting ready for this year's World Championship of Falling Asleep! They have to undergo the following tests: who can fall asleep fastest despite unbearably loud construction noises, in freezing cold temperatures, during a rollercoaster ride or in the deep, scary darkness of a cave? The different rounds of the competition are really challenging. But each sleeping athlete has their own tricks and, in the end, the snoring referee Heinz Hog is able to announce the new world champion. An exciting and humorously illustrated bedtime story which will challenge every child to fall asleep as quickly as possible.

Daniel Napp, born in 1974, studied graphic design in Münster. He won several awards as a student. He works as a freelance author and illustrator and has published several children's books.

The Bear and the Universe

Dea Loher
Illustrated by Horst Hellmeier
pp. 96, 17.0 x 24.0 cm, Age 5+
€ 14.00, 978-3-7373-5939-9
Rights sold to Italy

The ice sheet is melting away while the little polar bear Benny is still sitting on it. He starts his search for a new home – and for a friend with whom he can have a family. Otherwise, he fears, his species will become extinct. Benny finds a friend in Polly, the chicken, but although she is a really good friend, she simply refuses to marry and have children with him. So he places a lonely hearts ad and meets other, very nice animals: but neither the giraffe Anni nor the whale Ute are the right fit for him. Ute can hold her breath much longer than he can, and it's simply too hot for him where Anni lives ... But then Benny gets mail from Isabella, and he dares to hope once more. Originally a play that has been performed in Germany and abroad, The Bear and the Universe is a little masterpiece that treats the most pressing topic of our times in a playful manner.

Dea Loher is a writer of prose and one of the most important contemporary dramatists in the German language. She has been awarded numerous prizes for her dramatic work. "The Bear and the Universe" is her first novel for children.

Horst Hellmeier is an Austrian illustrator and comic artist.

LiLi gets to choose her own carnival costume with her mum. At the carnival procession, LiLi stands at the roadside and has a great adventure. She rides next to the prince on his float. Hunting for brightly painted Easter eggs in the garden is quite exciting for LiLi and is of course part of the Easter celebration. LiLi gets a fantastic present from her grandparents Granny Heidi and Grandad Karl. For the first time, LiLi sleeps somewhere other than her bed at home. LiLi and her friends spend the night at kindergarten. Baking bread on a stick over the campfire, singing songs and playing the guitar – and last but not least, LiLi gets to choose a bedtime story. Mum Fox has baked LiLi a delicious chocolate birthday cake with candles on top. LiLi has invited lots of her friends to her birthday party. LiLi wants a new bike and needs to save up for it: she helps Granny and Grandad in the garden and helps to pick strawberries. Mum has opened a savings account for LiLi at the bank. Picking out a Christmas tree in the winter forest, decorating the tree with golden baubles, candles and tinsel, singing Christmas songs with the family. This is how LiLi celebrates Christmas.

Heike Köppen, born in 1963 in Cologne, studied German and Romance languages at the Sorbonne in Paris. Later on she became a European journalist and a film director (ARTE, WDR, Pro7). In 2004 she began to write her own children's books – short stories for her children to fall asleep LiLi Fuchs is a little red-haired fox cub. She loves dark chocolate.

She suffers lots of small mishaps, but they are all resolved in a positive way. In gymnastics, LiLi falls from the rope onto the mat and is then allowed to jump on the trampoline. She travels by train with Mum and Dad Fox to visit her grandparents. The attentive conductor brings LiLi her bear backpack, which she forgot, as well as a little treat. LiLi goes to the circus for the first time. A colourful tent, animals, artists – and the clown Pimpanelli performs magic in the circus ring with LiLi's help. On a trip to the zoo – visiting the monkeys, hippos, bears and elephants – a bag of nuts bursts, and the big elephant is very happy about it.

A trilingual children's book with integrated trilingual radio play and audiobook.

New friends from foreign countries, trips all over the world, families with children who come to us for all kinds of reasons, the feeling that the world is moving closer and closer together – these are all reasons for LiLi and her friends to learn foreign languages. Stories translated 1:1 into English and Turkish by professional native speakers. Available as a trilingual, perfectly emphasised and pronounced radio play and audiobook for children to listen to, accessed via a QR code on each page of text. The aim is to give children a feel for the languages and to introduce them to the joy of learning new languages. Reading and listening – and at the same time learning languages visually and/or acoustically in a playful way.

Exciting adventures from children's everyday life – wonderful stories to fall asleep to. LiLi goes grocery shopping, LiLi takes the train, LiLi at the circus and at the zoo. Short stories illustrated in lots of bright colours. Short stories that are also suitable as reading exercises for people with reading difficulties, as inspiration for creative writing and to help those learning German.

For brave princesses and shy princes.

When a princess is to be married, she is kidnapped by a dragon and must be rescued by her prince. That's ALWAYS how it goes in fairy tales. But NOT with the princess in this fairy tale.

Eva Rottmann writes plays and fiction, develops her own performances and theatre projects, brings literature into schools and works as a teacher at the Zurich University of the Arts.

claire Lenkova works as an illustrator and author, for book publishers, newspapers and magazines including FAS and Brigitte.

"I was interested in turning around a very common fairy tale motif (prince rescues princess) and using the same means of reduction and simplification to set a completely different moral"

Ulla Rottmann, Börsenblatt

Sally flees with his family from Germany to Poland to escape the Nazis. After the German invasion in 1939, his parents insist that he flees with his older brother Isaak. When Sally is caught by the German soldiers, he makes a momentous decision ...

In this book he tells his story. Hiding among the enemy, he survives the murder of the Jews, always following his mother's words: "You should live!"

Sabrina Thomas, Silke vom Bruch and Sven Siebenmorgen are teachers and headteachers in Oberhausen. They have invited Sally Perel to their schools several times, and were so fascinated by his life story that they persuaded him to open up his personal archive for them. The result is this very personal non-fiction book.

The story of Sally Perel was made internationally famous in 1990 by the film Europa, Europa, directed by Agnieszka Holland.

When Aunt Charlotte goes to the big church, she takes Madeleine with her. One day Madeleine walks outside, down to the river where the fishermen are sitting. She fulfils a long-cherished wish and dares to ask if she can hold a fishing rod into the water. She enjoys this very much, until a boy asks her: if she caught a fish, would she be able to kill it herself? Madeleine hasn't even thought about that yet ...

Mira Lobe, born in 1913 in Görlitz, Silesia, wanted to become a journalist, but this dream was denied her as a Jew in National Socialist Germany. In 1936 she fled to Palestine, and from 1950 onwards she lived in Vienna, where she died on 6 February 1995. Mira Lobe wrote almost 100 books for children and young people.

Sabine Rufener, born in 1972 in Bern, Switzerland, studied illustration at the Zurich School of Art and Design SKDZ. She likes to experiment with various printing techniques, collage, frottage, coloured pencils and ink. Sabine Rufener works as a freelance illustrator and lives with her family in Basel.

Fanny spends a summer week with Grandpa, although everything in his old house is strange to her. Suddenly there is a hole in the hall outside her room and she descends a long flight of stairs into the cellar. There she meets the "cellarlings": a toad, a swan, a potato man and twenty-nine woodlice. They all are very agitated: The toad Lelalulah, who is the only one who goes outside and provides the others with stories from upstairs, has disappeared! Now they want Fanny to help them all by telling stories. Although the world outside seems dangerous, the cellarlings come to trust Fanny and let her lead them out into the open.

Eva Roth, born in 1974, grew up in a small village in Switzerland. She taught children for fifteen years, then became an editor at a children's book publishing house. She writes plays and prose texts for children and adults and lives with her family in Zurich.

World War I, Belgium. 12-year-old Thierry wants to take revenge on the German occupiers for the death of his mother. An attempt at sabotage fails and he is imprisoned. Thierry's grandfather manages to get him out, but the boy has to leave town and is placed with his great-aunt in Geel. Here, people with mental disabilities have been living as guests in foster families for centuries. Albert is one of them. He is excellent at drawing and is working on the "world's most important stamp". Thierry encourages him to draw the German troop movements, thereby putting Albert in great danger.

Rachel van Kooij was born in Wageningen in the Netherlands, and moved to Austria at the age of ten. She studied education and special education in Vienna. Today she works as an author and disability care worker in Klosterneuburg.

We all know these common misconceptions: "everyone swallows eight spiders in their sleep per year", "wasps sting out of pure malice".

Nonsense! This book explains and educates us about common misconceptions involving animals we do not necessarily love.

The concept is funny and entertaining: read about all the bad things said against rats, toads, earwigs and wolves – and if you want to know the truth, flip the book by 180 degrees to discover exciting facts about these allegedly "nasty critters" and their behaviour. You'll find all (or at least some!) of your prejudices disappear.

24 experiments in a unique activity book to rediscover bionics

Discover and recreate the most amazing human inventions that were inspired by the natural abilities of plants and animals. You will marvel at how bionics work. The suction cup principle from squid, Velcro from burdock and thermal insulation from polar bear fur: the field of bionics studies how humans develop means of communication and transport, machines, and special surfaces, by seeking ideas from and imitating nature – from tiny insects to magnificent plants and mammals. An awesome activity book for next-generation researchers and inventors.

The book features 24 such inventions. Kids can recreate them through hands-on experiments by following the easy instructions. Each example of bionics is illustrated with pictures and photos, a scientific explanation of the technology used, and an introduction to its natural role model. Short quiz sections also help kids review what they have learned.

At Mr Elmer's lost property office, there's a special department for particularly tricky cases, where his granddaughter Alex hunts for lost valuables – with help from a wacky crystal ball and a flying bed with a rocket engine. When Anton loses his dog Fluser and asks Mr Elmer for help, it turns out that Anton himself is actually a brilliant lost property agent. Which is why the rocket bed turns up outside his window one night. Alex needs his help! She has a particularly tricky case on her hands: the owner of the fairground's ghost train has lost all his ghosts!

Angelika Nierstrath and Andreas Hüging have been working together for a while now, writing and creating children's books and staging shows with music to go with them.

After half a lifetime as a chemist, Simona Ceccarelli traded in her lab coat for a pencil to pursue her childhood dream.

My Ocean Challenge Sailing into Climate Action

Birte Lorenzen-Herrmann, Boris Herrmann
Illustrated by Lara Paulussen
pp. 96, 28 x 21.5 cm, Age 9+
€ 20.00, 978-3-570-17993-2
All rights available

What does climate action have to do with sailing? Greta Thunberg's decision to cross the Atlantic on Boris Herrmann's boat rather than fly to the UN climate summit in New York has become a symbol of climate activism: of all modes of transport, sailing is perhaps the most mindful of nature. Now, climate activists Boris Herrmann and Birte Lorenzen-Herrmann want to awaken the same mindfulness and awareness of the fragility of our planet in all children – and enlighten and educate them along the way.

Boris Herrmann is the best German yachtsman of our time. He and his wife, Birte Lorenzen-Herrmann, together with scientists from the Max Planck Institute for Meteorology in Hamburg and the GEOMAR in Kiel, have set up the My Ocean Challenge programme, which brings together sailing, science and education. Birte also developed its eponymous schools programme, which fosters climate awareness and an understanding of our oceans among 8 to 14-year-olds.

Lara Paulussen's atmospheric, playful illustrations can be found in magazines, children's non-fiction books, animations and brand designs.

Legendary stories tell of treasures lying at the bottom of the sea, sunk in bogs or waiting to be discovered in flooded caves. It's not only treasure hunters who are interested in them - underwater archaeologists also want to find out what ancient objects can tell us about the past. What does it feel like to recover a real treasure? And how do the high-tech devices which are used for research deep below sea level work?

Clear text, exciting interviews and stunning pictures tell of a fantastic journey of discovery under water. A fascinating topic - comprehensibly and vividly explained!

WAS IST WAS, the famous non-fiction book series, presents knowledge for explorers big and small.

Dr Florian Huber works as an underwater archaeologist and research diver. He has already experienced a tsunami under water and has been to over 100 countries in the course of his expeditions and excavations.

WAS IST WAS Natural Sciences Made Easy! Chemistry. Elementary! The Components of Chemistry

What chemical reactions take place when eggs are fried? How does the colour get into fireworks? And where do we encounter chemical elements in everyday life? Chemistry. Elementary! is all about temperature, volume and energy. From sticky gecko feet to rockets taking off, it vividly illustrates how researchers have used these for research and technology. Readers learn all about molecular bonds, biochemical processes and reaction rates: with easy-to-understand explanations, numerous illustrations and concise examples, the topic of chemistry becomes a big bang!

Dr Manfred Baur is a documentary filmmaker, science journalist and author. He studied chemistry, logic and philosophy of science and never stops being curious. He has already written many exciting WAS IST WAS books for Tessloff.
